Hi you all,

Thank you for readin my first ever published work!

In my Afterwords I won't say much, I will mainly write what I think suits best!

In it's creation, this doujin practically went trough many obstacles. But that didn't mean that I gave up! I worked and worked hard on completing this piece of work and I hope that my efforts have paid off well!

Well I have always thought of Fate Testarossa as some kind of Prince Charming.

Someone who wouldn't back down to anyone. Someone that always comes to aid her Princess Nanoha. As most of us fans know, Fate-san is indeed a sole savior of Takamachi Nanoha. She is always at the right time, at the right place.

Be it an ambush of knights or a kill-crazy villian trying to harm her princess, she was always present to save the day.

I couldn't help but give her a prince like appearience in this doujin.

Same goes for Nanoha. To catch her character and to draw out her emotions was the true difficulty of this story...Actually it was really funny to draw her expressions and emotions (althought I am not sure if I have drawn them well each time in this story...)

When I was finished with my work, I realized that I still have a long way to go.

But that also means that I can improve even more in the future, so please look forward to some more projects of mine!

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year! XD

Yours dear
